Shirlayne Quayle

Director, Economic Vitality & Housing
shirlayne.quayle@sgcity.org
(435) 627-4135

Breaking the Barriers to Attainable Housing:

Every person deserves a place to call “home.” Come hear a group of industry leaders discuss ideas on addressing the need for more attainable housing in Washington County. The discussion will be facilitated by Shirlayne Quayle, Director of Economic Vitality & Housing, City of St. George.

Panel: Seth Foster, American Heritage Homes; Brett Burgess, Development Solutions Group; Kyle Pasley, SITLA; Kayo Skandunas, Habitat for Humanity of SW Utah; Laura Christensen/Jake Provost, Mountain America Credit Union

---

Shirlayne Quayle Shirlayne is a champion for inclusive prosperity. Her role as economic vitality and housing director for the City of St. George is underpinned by experience in innovation-driven economic development, entrepreneurship, healthcare, and higher education. Shirlayne owns a boutique construction company with her husband, is co-founder and chair of the Women’s Influence Network, co-chairs the Washington County Housing Action Coalition (HAC) and Local Homeless Council (LHC), and sits on the Switchpoint board of directors.